

Kevin Fraser is Head of EU and International Data Protection Policy at the UK Ministry of Justice. Kevin represents the UK at the Data Protection and Information Exchange Working Group in Brussels and the Council of Europe Consultative Committee of Convention 108. In addition to his experience in the field of data protection, Kevin led the implementation of FOI across MoJ, including the courts and tribunals, and was a member of the Group of Experts which drafted the Council of Europe Convention on Access to Official Documents. In his spare time, Kevin is a football referee.